

REMOTE WORKFORCE – IRONTARGET™ HOME OFFICE SOLUTION

BRINGING THE WORKSPACE HOME

Iron Bow Technologies' IronTarget is an on-premises cloud and virtual desktop platform that facilitates the rapid roll out of Virtual Desktop Infrastructure (VDI). IronTarget centralizes compute and storage resources, enabling users to access their desktop applications with any device from anywhere.

VDI solutions take computing off individual machines, holding it in a server environment. With VDI, users can access information and applications via any type of device, enabling secure BYOD. Once a user is logged in they are served with a consistent desktop experience and workflow across any device. From an administrative perspective, this flexible approach allows for consolidated management of systems rather than individual devices.

IronTarget enables rapid deployment of VDI to extend the geographic boundaries of work. IronTarget provides:

- Validated Design – Provides superior end-user experience from a proven platform
- Seamless Transition – Dramatically changes an end-user's experience and performance when working remotely
- Ease of Management – Addresses challenges for remote user administration
- Enhanced Security – Security measures are applied at the end user device and across the environment
- Lower Cost of Ownership – Remove the costs associated with desktop hardware refresh cycles
- Public Cloud Access – Flexibility to utilize public clouds for surge needs
